HAFENMEISTEREI

BEGEGNUNGSORT / ZWISCHENNUTZUNG, OFFENBACH, 2015

The Hafenmeisterei began in 2015 as an unofficial pop-up restaurant in the vacant harbourmaster's house, from which the operations of Offenbach's harbour were once coordinated. It was run by the cultural collective GetRich, in which YRD.Works were also active. The collective first developed the dining room and kitchen; later a terrace made of recycled construction-site timber was added. Guests signed up for the restaurant evenings via an email newsletter, and several courses were served.

Over time, regular bar evenings became an institution where Offenbach's cultural scene met. In a broader sense, the events at Pool were also part of the Hafenmeisterei. Until 2022 it remained a hidden, semi-public place for unofficial cultural offerings: the entrance lay behind a large billboard, and with its trees and various terraces the Hafenmeisterei could not be seen from outside, a place no one would have expected in the industrial wasteland.
